Optional Melody lines included for Bb Cornet/Flugel

With over 500 Australian schools and communities using this song’s Choral arrangement, ‘Can You Hear the Children Marching’ has become a staple in ANZAC Day commemorations across the country.

Written as an accompaniment to the popular song, the Band versions offer the opportunity for additional input for school and community music groups to add a special feature to their performance.

Also including optional melody lines for Bb Cornet and/or Flugel (Brass Band), this arrangement can be played as a stand alone Band item piece!
About the Composer...

Nathan Cahill is a Music Teacher in Queensland, Australia, teaching in the Bundaberg area. After completing a teaching degree majoring in English and Drama, Nathan taught in secondary schools until 2008, when he undertook a Bachelor of Music (Composition) through the CQU Conservatorium, while concurrently teaching Classroom Music and composing for local groups. Upon completing his degree, he was awarded Honours with Distinction. He currently teaches both Classroom and Instrumental Music, as well as presenting workshops for both teachers and students and guest conducting for Choral and Concert Band events around Australia.

Highly regarded for his themed choral works, Nathan has had over 500 schools around Australia singing his ANZAC and Book Week songs alone. His whole-school ukulele pedagogy (entitled “Green Crocs Eat Ants!”) is also popular in Primary School classrooms across Australia and the USA.

With a growing repertoire of instrumental music, Nathan’s Concert Band piece "Walsh Mountain" (published by Brolga Music) was featured in 2013 at the prestigious Mid-West Clinic, Chicago. Since then, his CB music has been performed around Australia and America. He travels regularly as guest conductor/clinician for classroom music, choral and band events.

And from the words "Dig in boys", be-neath a for-eign sun, A heri-tage of pride was borne, our Since that first great cross—
a-gater that braze the soul
North to south, and east to west, two hands to hand.
Our nation has to mourn those who fought,
From cap—it—al to coan—try—and from shores.
and those who fell. And with the passing of the years, time-worn memories survive. Through danger and of our lives, though our ways may diverge, our dreams stay true.

We link the proud in spirit, though our paths are few, To gather and celebrate the freedom fought for me and you.

We'll take this pride into our lives, And with our lives we'll live. And with our lives we'll live, And with our lives we'll live.

To Sun. Cym.
And can you hear the child-march 'cross Aus·tra·lia,
With rosiin' o'er the stream, "We will re·mem·ber."
The years go on and on, and still we...
answer to the call
To keep the flame eternal burning bright for us all,
Then you will hear the child now marching all across Aus tra lia.

From
all a-cross Aus-tri-a. And can you hear the child-ren march ing... With voices sch-o-o-ling, we're march-ing!
Our generation will be marching Together, we're marching
You will hear the children marching all across Austria.
